

Henry cavendish

Henry cavendish

Henry cavendish 1731-1810

Henry Cavendish was an English natural philosopher, physicist, and chemist. He is best known for his determination of the gravitational constant, G, in 1798. He also discovered hydrogen gas and water, and was the first to measure the density of air.